What does a student researcher do (role)?

A Pupil Researcher should analyse key points that will help the students enjoy and focus more on their learning.

Pupil Researchers should also listen to others and show support.

They need to be committed and take part in everything seriously.

Being a student researcher (feelings) ...

It feels exciting to discover new things.

I feel ecstatic to discover new things to help our school.

It is such a privilege to help other children who need help with their studies or reading.

What have you learnt? For yourselves and for your schools.

- Questions are important and they might be part of our daily life.
- Team work is really good for our school to help things get done easier and quicker.
- Questions are a special part of our lives. They help us communicate and understand each other. Without them, we would never reach this far. You can find all the answers with them and that is why they are so special.
